

A Modified Simplified Technique for Partial and Complete Splenectomy in the Dog

N.A. Misk and A. Hifny

Abstract:

The branches of the splenic blood vessels of the dog were studied in preserved and injected materials. Ligature of the splenic blood vessels at or near their origin shortens the time of the operation and prevents the commonly observed haemorrhage in cases of partial and complete splenectomy.

Published In:

Egypt. J. Vet. Sci., 15 , 1-2 , 61-66