The protective effects of green tea and curcumin against 2,3,7,8-tetrachlorodibenzo-P Dioxin (TCDD) induce hepatotoxicity in adult male mice.

Hanem S. Abdel-Tawab; Abdallah B. Mahmoud and Mona M. Attya.

Abstract:

TCDD induced histological and biochemical changes in the hepatic tissues and have the ability of GT and or curcumin to prevent these changes was shown due to their activity as powerful antioxidants.

Keywords:

TCDD- Antioxidants- Green Tea- Curcumin- Hepatotoxicity- Mice

Published In: