

To: Prof. Dr. Omar Mamdouh Shaban
Director of the International Ranking Office
Greetings,

With reference to your letter regarding providing the University's International Ranking Office with the social and sports activities offered by the Club to faculty members, students, and the external community for the year 2025:

First: Social Activity

The Club's management is always keen to nurture social and family bonds due to their positive impact on the lives of club members. This, in turn, reflects positively on performance within the university, consolidates a spirit of love and affection among faculty members, their assistants, and their families, and deepens their belonging to the club. Below are some of the social activities provided by the Club:

1. Every year, the Club holds five (5) group Iftar banquets during the holy month of Ramadan for members and their families at a nominal fee, with the Club covering the cost difference as support for the members.
2. During the winter season, specifically on Fridays, the Club provides a hot lunch for club patrons at a nominal price.
3. The Club prepares meals and tea receptions for participants of conferences and seminars held across various university faculties. It also hosts Egyptian and foreign guests of the university, with management ensuring the venue is appropriately prepared to receive guests.
4. The Club hosts Arab and international students studying at Assiut University, providing them with all facilities and services inside the club free of charge.
5. The Club welcomes student family groups from various university faculties who wish to spend a day at the club and host evening social gatherings under the supervision of faculty advisors.
6. The Club organizes engagement, marriage contract, wedding, and birthday parties for members and their families at nominal rates.

7. In collaboration with Assiut University Hospitals, the Club organizes a blood donation campaign inside the club during the summer months, which receives a positive response from members.
8. The Club cooperates with the Directorate of Health Affairs to provide healthcare services in accordance with presidential health initiatives.
9. Every April, the Club celebrates Orphan's Day by inviting children from orphanages along with their supervisors to enjoy a pleasant day at the club, where they benefit from all services free of charge. The Club and numerous members distribute gifts, sweets, and drinks to bring joy to their hearts.
10. During the summer season (June to September), the Club organized summer vacations for members and their families at the Club-owned apartments in the Faculty Members' Village on the North Coast at an affordable, nominal fee. These were held in 10-day shifts per family. Members commended the appropriate standard, furnishings, cleanliness, and full living amenities of the apartments, and no complaints were received.
11. The Club organizes subsidized trips to coastal destinations (e.g., Marsa Alam) for faculty members and their families.
12. The Club prepares its premises to host handmade craft and art exhibitions for female members and their daughters, held either in the club hall or the garden for a nominal fee. These exhibitions enjoy great popularity and appreciation among members.
13. The Club's management ensures to congratulate colleagues on all occasions via letters, announcements at the club, or social media. Management also offers condolences and posts them on the Club's official Facebook page.

Second: Cultural Activity

1. Cultural Forum: Through this forum, children gather to discuss topics from books covering historical figures or the most unusual journeys in history. This takes place weekly in the Club library.

2. Expressive Art Studio: Children express the environment through drawings on various subjects to train them and showcase their artistic skills. This takes place inside the Club library, with the Club providing all necessary supplies free of charge.
3. Film and Series Screenings: A selection of Arabic and foreign cultural films and classic Arabic plays are screened using display screens in the Club garden.
4. Spring Festival (Sham El-Nessim): The Club celebrates Sham El-Nessim annually with competitions for children, where prizes are distributed to the winners.
5. Library: The Club houses a library containing a substantial collection of cultural and historical books as well as diverse stories suitable for children of all ages. The library is open daily throughout the week to encourage children to read and enhance their cultural awareness.

Third: Sports Activity

The Club participates in all sports activities in cooperation with the University Olympic Village, which features all necessary sports fields, a swimming pool, and training halls.

- Hosting activities and championships of the Egyptian Karate Federation (Assiut Region).
- Hosting tournaments and activities of the Egyptian Football Association on the Club's field.
- Organizing the University Tournament across several sports on the Club field.

Please accept our highest respect and appreciation,

Executive Director of the Club

Mr. Mohamed Jaber Huss
